

Food Systems For Nutrition Innovation Lab

Supporting Innovations to Make Safe and Nutrition Food Available to All

ABOUT US

The Feed the Future Food Systems for Nutrition Innovation Lab (FSN-IL) is a USAID-funded project as part of the Feed the Future initiative that is implemented by the Friedman School of Nutrition Science and Policy at Tufts University. FSN-IL works with a consortium of U.S. academic partners, global development institutions, and food value and business collaborators across three core activities

Research for Development (R4D)

Human and Institutional Capacity Development (HICD)

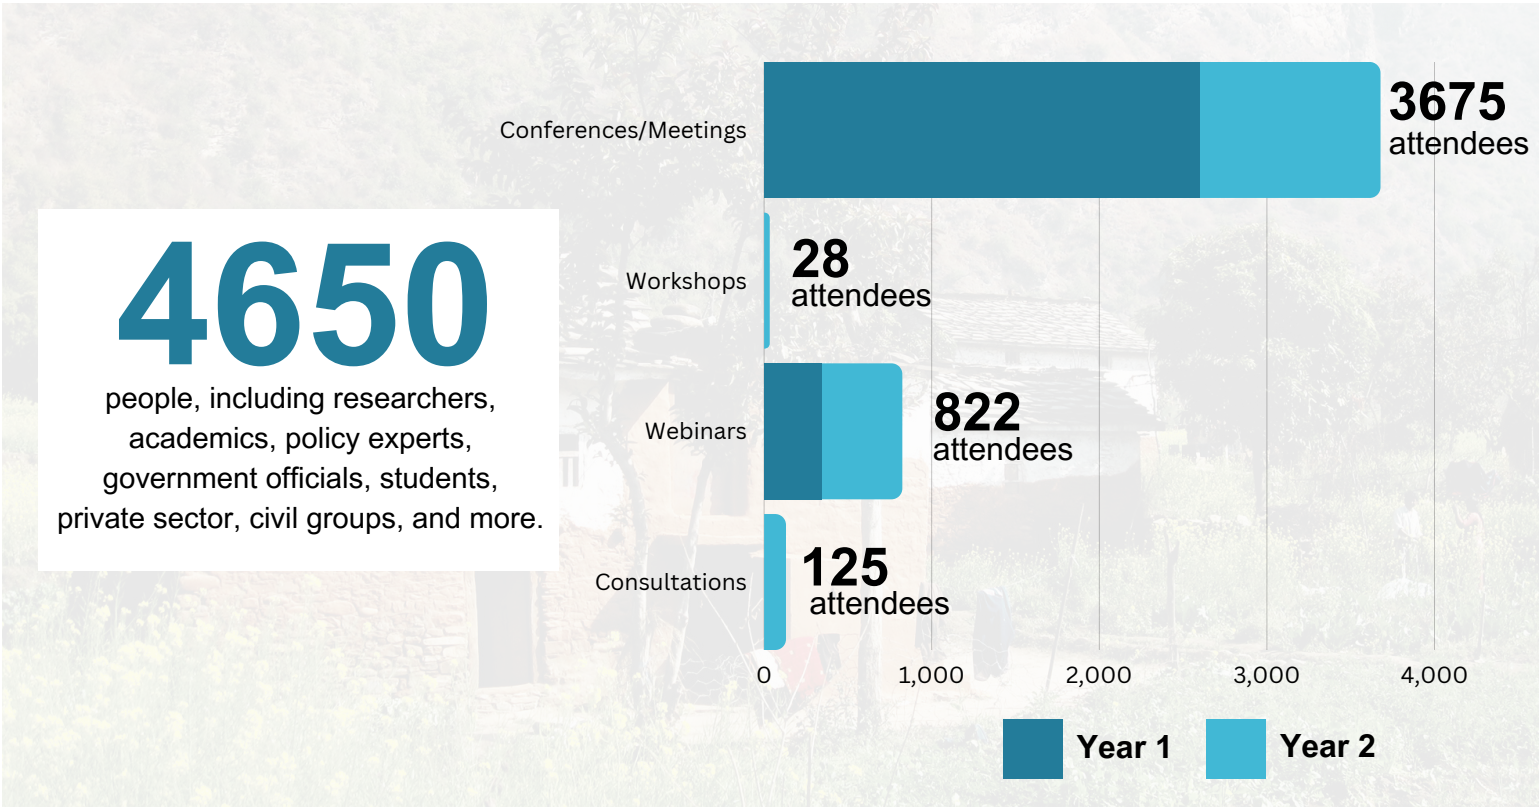

Stakeholder Engagement

The goal of the Lab is to support food systems transformation for improved diets and nutrition through research, capacity building, and stakeholder engagement in the current focus countries of Nepal, Bangladesh, Malawi, and Mozambique.

FROM 2021 UNTIL NOW, FSN-IL HAS REACHED

www.foodsystemsnutrition.org
Friedman School of Nutrition Science and Policy, Tufts University
 150 Harrison Ave, Boston, MA 02111

FoodSystemsNutrition@tufts.edu

@FoodSysNutraLab

@FoodSysNutraLab

Feed the Future Food Systems for Nutrition Innovation Lab

This infographic is made possible by the generous support of the American people through the United States Agency for International Development (USAID). The contents are the responsibility of the Food Systems for Nutrition Innovation Lab and do not necessarily reflect the views of USAID or the United States Government.